

Adrian Jon Brown

Adrian is currently studying the first year of his PhD at the Australian Centre for Astrobiology. His topic is The topic of his thesis is “Hyperspectral mapping of an ancient hydrothermal system” and involves using remotely acquired reflectance hyperspectral imaging spectroscopy to survey fossilised hydrothermal zones in rugged northern Western Australia.

Key Career Experience

- 6 years as a Computer programmer working in applications development
- Bachelor of Electrical Engineering with Honours
- Masters in Computer Science
- 10 years experience as a Weapons Engineering Officer in the Royal Australian Navy

Relevant Publications/Presentations

- Brown, A. J. (2003). Hyperspectral Mapping of an Ancient Hydrothermal System. NAI General Meeting, Phoenix, AZ, published in Astrobiology 2, Mary Ann Liebert Publishing.